

Aerospace Industries Association of Canada
L'Association des industries aérospatiales du Canada

APPENDIX G Specific Undertakings

Between

The Air Cadet League of Canada (ACLC)

And

AIAC

WHEREAS AIAC is a member-driven, not-for-profit national trade association that promotes and facilitates Canadian competitiveness in the global market for aerospace goods and services. It is the collective voice of Canada's leading aerospace manufacturers and service providers - an effective advocate on a broad range of public policy issues that have a direct impact on aerospace companies in Canada. Through its network of member companies, its productive relationships with federal government departments and agencies, and its globe-spanning international contacts, AIAC responds quickly and effectively to capitalize on sector opportunities, and to combat threats to sector competitiveness.

1. AIAC agrees to:

- provide aerospace experience and exposure by providing access to selected air cadets to the AIAC Annual General Meeting.
- encourage its members to facilitate access/tours of their facilities as a means to educate and enhance awareness of aerospace career opportunities for cadets and Air Cadet League members, and to assist in incorporating this data into a national database of tours and speakers
- encourage its members to facilitate the provision of guest speakers as a means to educate and enhance awareness of aerospace career opportunities for cadets and Air Cadet League members, and to assist in incorporating this data into a national database of tours and speakers
- create a link to the Air Cadet League of Canada on its website

2. AIAC expresses its willingness to undertake discussions with the League with a view to providing monetary support in the form of annual scholarships and/or sponsorships and/or an annual allotment.

WHEREAS the Air Cadet League of Canada (ACLC) is as an organization committed to promoting continuing education, developing leadership and citizenship skills, encouraging amongst young people a practical interest in aeronautics and assisting those intending to pursue a career in the field of aviation:

3. ACLC agrees to:

- encourage the establishment of career orientation programmes in squadrons
- assist in educating cadets on industry career opportunities
- promote an awareness of AIAC member opportunities
- create a link to the AIAC on its website

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, the Parties hereto have executed this Agreement this 21st day of November, 2009
